MOSCOW (AP) —The Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia announced today they have reached agreement on the conditions for withdrawing occupation troops from Czechoslovakia.

A communique issued here on Soviet-Czechoslovak talks said the withdrawal would be made as the situation in Czechoslovakia becomes normal.

The communique did not give specific information on the conditions of withdrawal.

The communique said Soviet leaders affirmed a "readiness for the widest and most sincere cooperation on the basis of mutual respect, equality, territorial integrity, independence and Socialist solidarity."

The Soviet Union and its hard-line allies invaded Czechoslovakia last Tuesday on the ground that communism in the country was threatened.

The Czechoslovak delegation pledged that its government and Communist party would work "in the interests of strengthening friendly relations" with the Soviet Union and other East bloc countries.

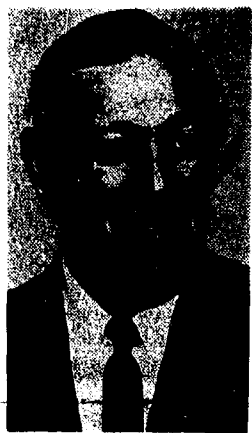

The communique made no mention of the "counterrevolutionary" forces which the Soviet Union and its four allies—East Germany, Poland, Bulgaria and Hungary—maintained were threatening communism in Czechoslovakia.

It referred only to the need to give a "decisive rebuff" to "militarist, revisionist and Neo-Nazi" forces.

Paw Paw Business Owner Dies

HAROLD BRILL

Stricken While Baiting Hook

PAW PAW — A prominent Paw Paw business man died last night while fishing near his home on Lake Cora, west of Paw Paw.

The body of Harold Brill, 60, was recovered from the waters of Lake Cora by state police diver William Allen about 9 p.m. yesterday.

For the past 25 years, Brill has operated the Gateway Restaurant, on Red Arrow Highway, west of Paw Paw.

Police said Brill was fishing with his brother-in-law, Daniel Wetzel, 72, of Chicago, on Lake Cora just west of his home on the south side of the lake, about 8 p.m. Brill was in the front of the boat and was baiting his hook when he slumped over the side and disappeared into the water, according to the officers.

Police said Wetzel told them Brill did not come up after going under the water. Wetzel called for help, and was brought to shore by another boat.

BODY RECOVERED

Sheriff's deputies and state police, including Trooper Allen, arrived at the scene and a search was begun. Because the boat had been left at anchor where Brill disappeared, Allen was able to recover the body on his second dive.

Allen said the body was in 15 feet of water about 200 feet from shore.

Brill was pronounced dead on arrival at Lake View Community hospital by Dr. Joseph Loomis.

Members of the family said Brill had a history of heart trouble. From the accounts given by witnesses, police theorized that Brill had suffered a heart attack when he slumped into the water.

Mr. and Mrs. Brill purchased the Gateway Restaurant about 25 years ago. In addition to his wife, Brill is survived by four children: Richard Brill, principal of the Paw Paw high school; Mrs. Robert Hindenach of Paw Paw; Charles Brill of Ionia; and Arthur Brill, who is presently attending college.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete this morning.

Child With Transplanted Liver, Dies

DENVER, Colo. (AP) —Julie Cherie Rodriguez, who lived with a transplanted liver longer than anyone known to science, died of cancer Monday evening at the University of Colorado Medical Center.

"It was a blessing," said her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Rodriguez of Pueblo, Colo. "She had suffered so much, I'm glad God came and picked her up," said her father.

At 2, the pretty, wide-eyed little girl was too young to know that by surviving more than 13 months after the transplant she offered hope to uncounted victims of otherwise terminal liver ailments.

Gun Control Need Seen By Hoover

Firearms Used In Most Murders

WASHINGTON (AP) — If there are 100 people on your block chances are two of you will be murdered, raped, robbed or beaten in the coming year.

And if somebody pulls a weapon on you, it probably will be a gun.

These are key facts in the FBI's annual Uniform Crime Reports, a volume of data supplied by law enforcement agencies across the nation.

It was released Monday with a message from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover calling for "great social action to prevent and abort more careers in crime."

The report contained for the first time a detailed compilation of murders by firearms in all states between 1962 and 1967.

The statistics show a significantly higher incidence of murder by firearms in states without strict gun controls than in those few that have such controls—a showing in keeping with Hoover's long-time campaign for federal gun controls.

The Michigan crime rate per 100,000 persons increased 16.4 per cent in 1967 over 1966: from 2,174 to 2,530.

One of the most startling statistics was the figure on crime for the decade, showing an 89 per cent increase in serious crime in the nation since 1960, with a rise in crimes of violence of 73 per cent.

Serious crime—there were more than 3.8 million serious offenses committed—rose 16 per cent in 1967 over 1966, the report said. Nearly 500,000 of these serious crimes were classified as crimes of violence.

USE OF FIREARMS

Firearms were used in 63 per cent of all murders. In 1966, gun murders amounted to less than half—47 per cent—of all homicides. There were also 11 per cent more murders last year than in the previous 12 months, the report said.

The police battling average in solving crime fell by 8 per cent, and Hoover expressed some concern over the reason the resource gave for the slippage.

He blamed court decisions which he said restricted police investigative and enforcement practices, plus the increase in workload for police not related to crime, and understrength police forces.

Seventy-six policemen were killed by criminals in 1967. This

Humphrey Picks Up Strength

Kennedy Boom Collapses; Viet Debate

From Associated Press
Vice President Hubert Humphrey tightened today his hold on the Democratic presidential nomination while the party convention engaged in bruising fights over rules and credentials.

The question of seating Georgia delegates was still up in the air and major battles loomed tonight over seating Alabama and North Carolina delegations and over the Vietnam plank of the party platform.

Humphrey's chances have soared with the apparent collapse of efforts to draft Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and the erosion of southern resistance.

VIETNAM ISSUE

A party convention vote tonight on a Vietnam plank in the platform, shaped to Humphrey's liking and opposed by Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, seemed likely to provide a key countdown on the nomination outcome.

The Platform Committee put before the heavily-guarded and restricted convention a plank rejecting and unconditional halt of the bombing of North Vietnam.

Meanwhile, Humphrey's first ballot strength in The Associated Press survey shot past the 900 mark today when he picked up the bulk of the Florida votes relinquished by Sen. George A. Smathers.

Smathers endorsed Humphrey Monday and said he would withdraw as a favorite son candidate for president either before or during the first ballot scheduled Wednesday night. Of Florida's 63 votes, 45 went to Humphrey, 6 to McCarthy and 12 were uncommitted.

AP POLL

The AP poll, based on primary results, public pledges and the results of caucuses and AP delegate checks, gave Humphrey 937½ of the 1,312 votes needed for the nomination. Only firmly committed votes are counted, not delegates leaning to a candidate.

Rules No Conflict By MSU Trustee

But Kelley Takes Personal Slap At Official

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled today that C. Allen Harlan, a Michigan State University trustee and also "employee" of an electric company, was not involved in a conflict of interest because of his two roles.

But in a press statement unrelated to his formal opinion, Kelley said he could not support Harlan for renomination to the MSU board this year. Both Harlan and Kelley are Democrats.

Harlan was in Chicago for the Democratic National Convention and was not immediately available for comment.

Proposed Democratic Platform

Vietnam—No bombing halt without a response from Hanoi and assurances that the safety of U.S. troops will not be endangered.

Justice and Law—A "vigorous and sustained campaign against lawlessness," combined with an attack on the root causes of crime and disorder, and passage and enforcement of effective gun control legislation.

Civil rights — A pledge "to wipe out once and for all the stain of racial and other discrimination from our national life."

Urban—Mobilize the resources and leadership of private enterprise to eliminate slums and rehabilitate the victims of poverty.

Housing—Assist private enterprise to build 2.6 million units a year, double the present volume.

Welfare—Repeal of the freeze on the number of children eligible for dependent aid and the requirement for mothers on welfare to work.

Youth—Lower the voting age to 18, reform the draft system.

Jobs—Achieve full employment, to maximum extent possible, through creation of jobs in private sector.

Labor—Repeal provision permitting states to enact compulsory open shop laws and extend Taft-Hartley protection to farm workers.

Farm—Support right of farmers to bargain collectively in the market place.

Ike Still On Critical List

Bloody Violence In Park

Many Injured; Police Beat 14 Newsmen

CHICAGO (AP) — More than 3,000 demonstrators protesting the Vietnam war and the draft were routed from a North Side park with tear gas Monday night and chased, chanting and shouting, through Chicago streets.

Twenty-nine demonstrators and two reporters were hospitalized, and scores of other persons were treated for lesser injuries.

Sixty-seven persons were arrested. Details on charges were not immediately available.

Some 14 newsmen covering the protest were set on by police and beaten. Some of the newsmen had microphones and television cameras in their hands, and others had Democratic National Convention press credentials dangling from their necks.

Several miles across the city the convention met for its first session, surrounded by a tight ring of security and undisturbed by outside demonstrators.

MARCH DOWNTOWN

Shortly before the park confrontation, more than 1,000 of the protesters, youths in the peace movement and Yippies—members of the Youth International party—broke through several pockets of police security and marched to the downtown Democratic headquarters.

The clash in Lincoln Park, which runs several miles along the North Side lakefront, was sparked by the protesters' refusal to obey a police order to clear the park for an 11 p.m. curfew.

The group quickly erected a barricade of picnic tables and trash cans in one corner of the park against some 600 policemen massed in a parking lot opposite them, and chanted:

"Hell no, we won't go. The parks belong to the people."

"This is the final warning," a police loudspeaker boomed. "We have information that some persons in the crowd intend to injure police officers. We will take whatever measures are necessary to see that no one gets hurt, including police officers."

POLICE USE TEAR GAS
Then police lobbed in tear-gas canisters, and the throng streamed through the park and out into a major intersection. Many held handkerchiefs over their eyes when they reached the street.

A police squad car that had attempted to approach the crowd from behind was stoned and its windows and flashing light broken.

Police ordered newsmen to leave the park before the tear gas was used. They warned that no sanction or quarter would be given if they stayed.

In the street outside the park, the demonstrators regrouped and taunted police with shouts of "pig and gestapo." Some

How The Convention

Came About

The U.S. Constitution lays down the legal framework for choosing a President and a Vice President which, for practical purposes, went into utter discard 136 years ago.

The Constitution's draftsmen, except for a few dissenters such as Thomas Jefferson, held the man in the street as somewhat suspect. They feared a popularity contest for offices in the new government might undo all that had been gained by the Revolutionary War.

Thus, the Constitution sketched out a republican form of government rather than a direct democratic type.

The Founding Fathers believed if the public selected spokesmen to name the principal office-holders that better men would be called into government service than if they had to run through a personal popularity contest ever few years.

U.S. Senators, under the Constitution's first wording, were chosen by the state legislatures and given relatively long terms in office. The concession to direct democratic action was extended only to Representatives.

Article II similarly fenced off the Presidency and Vice Presidency from direct voter action.

It specifies that the legislature in each shall establish a method of choosing electors, equal to that state's number of Senators and Congressmen. The electors then vote on the selection of two men for the Executive branch. The one receiving the highest vote becomes President; the next highest man is the Vice President.

Should the electoral college deadlock itself, then the House of Representatives substitutes its opinion.

The system worked in its intended fashion only in the two terms held by George Washington, as the first President.

The Father of his Country was installed by acclamation, confirming to a degree the opinion of some historians that the 1787 drafted Article II with Washington directly in mind and without much concern beyond his anticipated tenure.

Even before Washington established the no-third term precedent, public opinion began to crystallize along two major force lines.

Jefferson became the spokesman for a states rights viewpoint. Alexander Hamilton epitomized the argument for a strong central government.

Their followers adopted the names of Democrat-Republicans and Federalists respectively.

The first deviation from strictly Constitutional conduct came as the House members, aligned in those separate groupings, caucused among themselves on Presidential choices. The delegates to the electoral college deferred to those caucuses.

Jefferson and Aaron Burr put Article II to its first major test in 1800. They split the electoral college vote. The House of Representatives resolved the impasse in favor of Jefferson.

The first record of any popular vote for the Presidency was not taken until 1824.

Andrew Jackson was a plurality choice among the public and the electoral college, followed by John Quincy Adams, Henry Clay and William H. Crawford in that order.

James Monroe, the outgoing President, favored Crawford, his Secretary of the Treasury.

Adams induced Clay to influence enough of the House members to downgrade both Jackson and Crawford, and became our sixth President.

Four years later the outraged Jackson took the electoral college decision by storm.

In 1830 the Anti-Masons met at Philadelphia and decided upon a national convention in the following year.

Clay's adherents under the banner of the National Republicans quickly adopted the idea, as did Jackson's followers, shortly thereafter.

Jackson easily won re-election in 1832.

The Anti-Masons scored so low in the voting that most reporting services today do not bother to record the results.

Their inattention at the polls, however, brought about the Presidential selection system we have today.

Compared to subsequent conventions the 1832 deliberations were solemn occasions. A delegate took his appointment seriously and listened attentively, even if not in full agreement, when a man like Daniel Webster expounded on what course the American eagle should fly.

The ballyhoo and hoopla came on in the latter part of the 19th century and up until this year has grown in theatrics as the conventions have declined in substance.

There is some indication 1968 may usher in a reduction of the foldover.

Thanks to the TV camera which first brought home to the public in 1952 how ridiculous the two major parties stage their quadrennial shows, those in charge of the Republican and Democratic destinies are beginning to believe the time has arrived to streamline the convention's affairs.

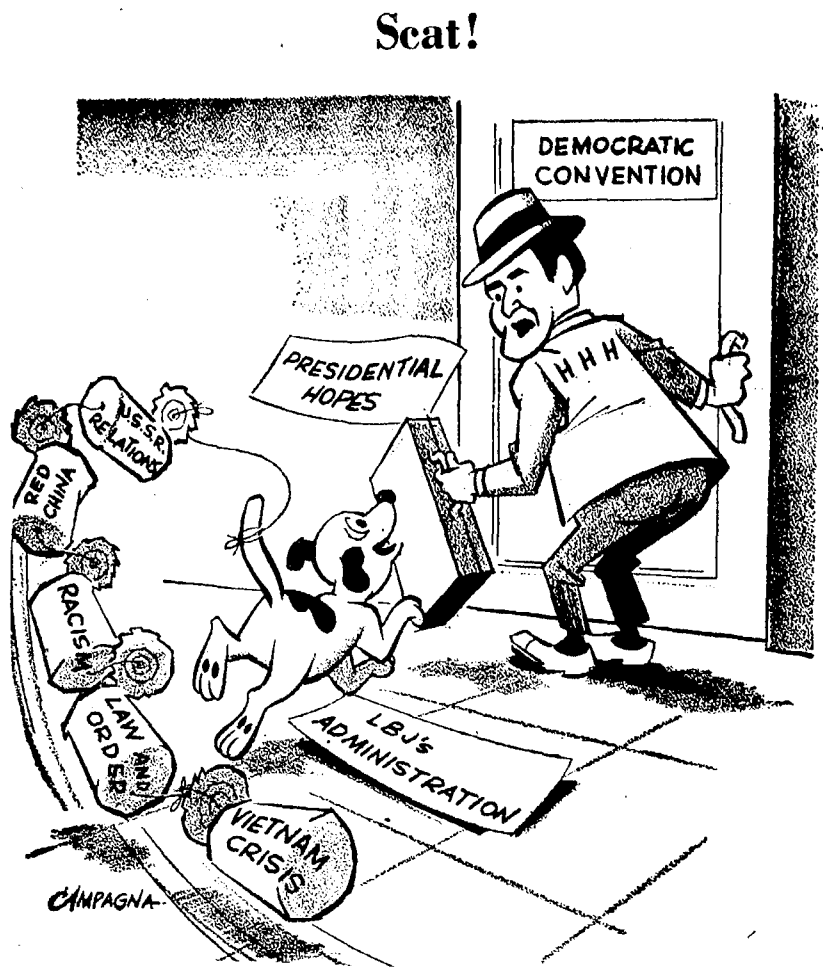

The meetings got out of hand in the early '20s as the commercial interests in the larger cities started to bid extravagantly for convention trade.

The party leaders had to stretch the sessions to repay this debt.

This may be good business, as the entrepreneurial world measures such things, but it doesn't produce good politics nor do much to uplift the public's opinion of its leadership.

Work and play should be balanced up, not overloaded one against the other.

On Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula, a sick Maya Indian reveals his illness by saying: "I ate only two tortillas this morning." The average Yucateco consumes 20 per meal, the National Geographic Society says.

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON — The next president will not be chosen until next November, but preparations are already underway for his inauguration and the quadrennial festivities that will accompany it.

Congress has appropriated $400,000 for inaugural expenses, including the stands before the Capitol where the new president will take the oath of office.

And the wheels are turning already for the inaugural celebration, a non-partisan affair which relies largely on volunteer help and partly on donations and which will probably cost close to $2,000,000. Congress appropriates no funds for this.

Since the inauguration itself is a comparatively uncomplicated affair which follows a rigid previously-established pattern, the big task is to organize the festivities that will launch the new administration.

This is no easy task, but it also follows a pattern which has proven successful in the past. The most important chore is to raise the funds.

DR. COLEMAN

... And Speaking Of Your Health

Stick out your tongue is almost always the routine beginning of a complete medical examination. The appearance, color, size and covering of the tongue are a quick and remarkable index of good health and disease.

Stick out your tongue remains long in the memory of children who represented the gagging sensation when they resisted opening the mouth for the doctor's view of the interior. With patience and better psychological insight, doctors have found many new ways of avoiding this psychological "landmark" in the growth of children.

The tongue provides a wealth of information to the physician who has learned to use it as a diagnostic symbol.

Infections, lead and bismuth poisonings, hormone imbalance, nutritional deficiencies, allergies, tumors, dental disorders birth abnormalities are only a few of the conditions that are tracked down from the time the patient first says "Ah." It is said that more than a hundred different medical conditions in some way manifest themselves in the appearance of the tongue.

Mothers of young infants have frequently seen a white, fluffy, cloud-like appearance of the mouth and tongue. Almost invariably they call the doctor and say "I think my baby has thrush" and almost always they are right. Thrush is a mild fungus infection of no serious consequence and is readily cured.

Sometimes, patients become overly concerned when there appears to be a series of small bumps on the back of the tongue. In this day of fear of cancer, they cause unnecessary concern. These are normal, healthy taste buds.

The color of the tongue is of special importance as a diagnostic sign. A red, strawberry-colored tongue screams to be recognized as part of the picture of scarlet fever. A smooth, magenta tongue associated with small breaks in the corner of the mouth suggests the possibility of a Vitamin B deficiency.

Occasionally, after prolonged use of some types of antibiotics, the black color of the tongue suggests a fungus infection which usually disappears a short time after the drug is discontinued.

A sudden swelling of the tongue called angioneurotic edema is caused by some allergy to food, or sensitivity to a drug. The tongue and the gum margins of the teeth are really excellent barometers that show changes in the adrenal, pituitary and thyroid glands. Ulcerations and tumors of the tongue occur as they do in all other parts of the body. Sometimes there are deep furrows in the tongue which is referred to as a "geographic" tongue. There is no special significance to this condition other than the fact that the appearance may be distressing.

Speech defects can be caused by a tongue that is bound down by a tiny band of firm tissue, a frenulum. This can be readily repaired and should be done long before it interferes with childhood speech.

White patches known as leukoplakia sometimes appear on the surface of the tongue and on the inner lining of the cheeks. These can be caused by cigarettes, pipe smoking and poorly fitting dentures. They are usually kept under observation to see if they enlarge too rapidly. The tongue does speak on eloquent language.

Opening lead — jack of spades.

Switzerland defeated the United States, 18 victory points to 2, in the opening round of the Third World Bridge Olympiad, but in doing so they had to overcome a decisive blow struck early in the 20-board match by the American North-South pair, Jordan and Robinson.

Four clubs by Jordan was a Gerber bid asking for aces; Robinson's response showed two. Five clubs asked for kings; five hearts showed one.

With all the aces and kings accounted for, Jordan contracted for seven notrump, hoping his diamonds would produce the extra tricks needed to assure the grand slam.

Exercising his customary wizardry over the cards, Robinson proceeded to make the contract despite the 3-1 diamond break. He won the spade lead with the queen, but before tackling the key suit, diamonds, he cashed all his spades, hearts and clubs.

As a result of these plays, Robinson learned that West had started the hand with three spades, three hearts and six clubs — and consequently could not have more than one diamond among his thirteen cards.

Accordingly, Robinson cashed dummy's king of diamonds and continued with a low diamond, finessing the ten after East followed low. The finesse succeeded, of course, and the United States scored 2,220 points on the deal.

At the other table, the Swiss North-South pair stopped at six notrump, but because declarer had no reason to jeopardize the small slam by cashing the three suits, he wound up making only six when he led the A-K of diamonds early in the hand.

It is interesting to note that seven diamonds goes down one with normal play. Only at seven notrump can declarer afford the luxury of testing the other suits in order to shed light on the diamond position.

SJ RENEWAL TAKES 2 BIG STEPS FORWARD

Need For Ross Field Expansion Stressed

LAND PINCH ACUTE

Ross Field is doing a good job, but in the opinion of Jay Ramsey, executive director for the Michigan Aeronautics Board, it requires a traffic control tower, more land and a wider financial base to keep up with rising aviation requirements.

Ramsey delivered this view, together with his assessment of the air traffic jams making recent headlines, to the Twin City Rotary club Monday.

The traffic control tower has been FAA certified as a necessity but is stalled for lack of a federal grant. Ramsey hinted he does not believe this money will be forthcoming until next year when budget making time arrives in Washington.

GROWING WORSE

The space problem, he said, will become acute as jet service turns standard for the medium and smaller sized airports.

The speaker noted what has been a local conversation piece on the land pinch. This is the nearness of Red Arrow highway which runs counter to federal standards on glide path ratios (the longer the runway the more uncluttered ground beyond the airport's boundary is required).

Expanding the field's financial base is necessary if the Ross facility is to keep pace with other communities, Ramsey noted.

The common formula in airport development is for the local community and the state to match dollars. The federal government then adds an equal amount.

Thus, if an improvement will cost $500,000, the Twin Cities, plus Benton and St. Joseph townships, must first raise $125,000 before state and federal matching funds can be obtained.

The mechanics of the system, said Ramsey, "look like too much for your present group to handle. Greater participation, maybe even countywide, is needed."

Commenting on the financial side of airport management, Ramsey said the Michigan legislature, proportionately, has been more open handed in the past two years than has Uncle Sam.

He credited State Sen. Charles O. Zollar for much of this additional help from Lansing.

Federal funds, Ramsey indicated, are hung up in a bureaucratic battle at Washington.

Alan S. Boyd, Secretary of the Transportation Department, is proposing a system of smaller grants and higher user taxes (tickets, fuel, etc.) for airport funding. Opposed to his plan is a Senate Commerce committee recommendation combining user taxes in lesser amounts to help underwrite a combination loan and grant system.

AIRLINES FAVORED

Boyd, said Ramsey, "Shows an amazing lack of understanding of the problems facing the smaller installations. His plan favors the scheduled airlines over general (privately owned) aircraft."

The speaker took issue with recent explanations that private planes are a principal cause in the aerial hang-ups at major ports such as Kennedy and O'Hare.

The scheduled lines are over concentrating their arrival and departure hours at prime traveling times and ground facilities are being generally overworked, he said in defense of the private craft.

Ramsey noted that there are now 110,000 private planes to 2,000 scheduled ships operating in the U.S. skyways. The former carry half of the passenger load handled by the latter.

"Important as they are to the economy, we can't adjust everything to the scheduled carriers," is his reaction.

John P. Banyon, chairman of the Ross Field airport board, served as program chairman.

The speaker took issue with recent explanations that private planes are a principal cause in the aerial hang-ups at major ports such as Kennedy and O'Hare.

The scheduled lines are over concentrating their arrival and departure hours at prime traveling times and ground facilities are being generally overworked, he said in defense of the private craft.

Ramsey noted that there are now 110,000 private planes to 2,000 scheduled ships operating in the U.S. skyways. The former carry half of the passenger load handled by the latter.

"Important as they are to the economy, we can't adjust everything to the scheduled carriers," is his reaction.

Restaurant Plans Are Revealed

Financing Okayed For Construction Of Holiday Inn

Development in the Urban Renewal area of St. Joseph took two steps forward last night at the St. Joseph city commission meeting.

Ward A. Webster, chairman of Holly Grills, Inc., announced plans for a new restaurant in the city; and commission members learned the Jan-Barb, Inc., corporation has met its deadline for submitting financing plans for a new Holiday Inn in the city.

Holly's plans to relocate to a new building to be constructed on a site at Main street between Port and Ship streets on the downtown urban renewal block five. Webster last night requested application to construct the building. He said plans and specifications had been submitted to City Manager L.L. Hill and if they are approved, construction could begin as early as next week.

FINANCING APPROVED

In a related matter, city attorney A.G. Preston, Jr., said the city has received mortgage loan commitment papers from Jan-Barb, Inc., as evidence of financing the construction of the proposed Holiday Inn on urban renewal block four.

Preston said evidence of equity capital was from The Lincoln National Life Insurance company of Fort Wayne, Ind., in the amount of $800,000.

The financing plans were required by Urban Renewal. In a contract with the city, Jan-Barb was to have submitted the plans by June 30, but was given an extension to Aug. 29 by the commission last June. The contract now requires the corporation to complete the purchase of the land from the city by Sept. 6.

Ralph Borchert of the Jan-Barb corporation said the financing plans were submitted ahead of deadline of Aug. 29, and that the corporation now

NEW RESTAURANT: Sketch shows how new Holly's restaurant, to be known as Holly's Landing, will look in proportion to other development of urban renewal area in St. Joseph. Next to the new restaurant is Barlow Brothers complex on block five. To the right on Main street is the current Holly's restaurant constructed in 1938. At center is sketch of proposed new Holiday Inn motel, which would be located across Main street from Holly's Landing. The new restaurant is expected to be completed by April 1, 1969.

plans to move ahead "in a very short time."

Webster told the commissioners the new restaurant will be constructed by Barton & Associates of Kalamazoo and that the estimated cost by architects is $200,000. Barton & Associates is now erecting the Shoreham Terrace Nursing home on Red Arrow Highway in Shoreham.

The restaurant will be known as Holly's Landing. The building design was authored by Fred Schmid and Associates of Los Angeles. Webster said he and Schmid designed the current Holly's restaurant also located on Main street back in 1938. Barlow Brothers are the local developers and architects are Robert Reid & Associates of Grand Rapids. The new restaurant will be open from about 11 a.m. to midnight.

Webster said they would like to begin construction as soon as possible and are aiming for a completion date of April 1, 1969. He asked that action be taken on the plans and specifications as soon as possible as they would like to complete the blacktopping and sidewalks "before the snow flies."

In other action, the commission approved a resolution naming an agent to act for the Twin City Airport Board to screen and purchase many types of equipment for the airport from government surplus property. He is Ned Patterson, assistant director of the Michigan Aeronautics Commission. He will attempt to obtain equipment as specified by the airport board.

The commission also approved a lease with the Berrien County Building Authority. The county has been unable to purchase the land on which the courthouse parking lot is located because a suit was filed against the county. In the interim the county paid the city rent for use of the land. The total purchase price will remain the same with the money paid in rent deducted from the total. The lease calls for the county to pay $12,436 per year for the lease agreement. The county building authority is now issuing bonds to pay for the property.

NEW TRUCKS

Commission members agreed to purchase two new replacement trucks. Richard Ford of St. Joseph was low bidder for a dump truck at $6,150. Other bidders were Gersonde International truck sales of Benton Harbor at $6,216 and Zerbel GMC of Benton Harbor with $6,220.

Low bidder for a dump truck was an underside scraper was Zerbel GMC with $9,998. Other bidders were Richard Ford with $10,389; and Gersonde International with $10,800.

A group of six residents on Granada avenue were present to inquire about the city's plans for sidewalks on the street. Harry Koch, spokesman, said the residents had been told the sidewalks would be placed along the curb and they had also been told they would be placed so as to provide tree lawns. Koch said the residents would like to know just how the sidewalk installation is planned. They were told the city engineer would contact them within the week.

The commission paid bills totaling $895.72. Commissioner C.A. Tobias, Jr., in moving the bills be approved for payment, said the total was the smallest amount in a long time.

The commission adjourned until Monday, Sept. 9, due to the Labor Day holiday on Sept. 2.

Citizens Named To BH Renewal Council

The Benton Harbor City Commission last night ratified a 10-member citizens' urban renewal district council proposed by Mayor Wilbert Smith to represent residents of the downtown-Riverview project area.

The majority of the council, called for by a recent state law, must be residents of the project area, while the others must have at least substantial interest in the district area.

On the list and ratified for two year terms were Bert

Wozniak, Mary's Hotel (163 Colfax avenue), Lula Williams, 578 Eighth street, Mrs. Jeff Davis, 272 High street, Henrietta Palmer, 400 Harbor Towers, Washington Jones, 401 Harbor Towers, Vales Crossley, 418 Eighth street, Burton Pearson, 240 W. Britain avenue, Charles Knipschild, 270 Eighth street, Ronald Sondee, 777-A Riverview Drive, and former city commission member Ed Ray, 744 Colfax avenue.

The commission also adopted an urban renewal district area ordinance, another formally required by a recent state law.

Land included in the district area ordinance included some sections outside of but contiguous with the renewal project area, notably several square blocks along the project's southeasterly boundary.

However, Mrs. Marian Ohmann of the urban renewal department, said that the inclusion of the land within the district area will mean no change in the boundaries of the project itself.

"We're not going to expand the project at all into these areas," Mrs. Ohmann said. "Their inclusion within the district area was done merely to comply with state law requiring that all areas affected by an urban renewal project be included in the urban renewal district area."

PLAN RESUBMITTED

In other urban renewal action, the commission voted unanimously to resubmit the city's Hall Park code enforcement grant request to the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The city had recently been notified by the Chicago office of HUD that the code enforcement request had been turned down because the city had failed to relocate several families outside of the current urban renewal project.

Mrs. Ohmann told the commission that the Housing Commission has applied to HUD for aid in relocating those still in the downtown-Riverview project, thus clearing the way for the city to resubmit the code enforcement request.

Mrs. Ohmann said the only difference in the new request is that the maximum loan or grant available to the individual homeowner in the code enforcement area by the federal government has been raised from $1,500 to $3,000.

NEW WATER LINE

In other business, the commission authorized the advertisement for bids for a water transmission line between Highland avenue and Empire street. The line which will connect with the Benton township water system will make a meandering course that at one time or another will run along Hull, High, McCord, Britain and Valley streets. The bids will be accepted Sept. 23.

The commission also approved resolutions banning parking on the south side of Baird Street between Bishop and Pipestone streets and calling for the widening of Paw Paw avenue between Cass and Main streets.

In other actions, the commission:

- Voted to permit a tag day for the Blossomland Cadets for August 30 and 31.
- Set a public hearing for Sept. 9 on a variant stairway at 734 Territorial.
- Referred to the public safety committee a proposal to make one-way an alley along Agard street between Pipestone and Ward streets.

Salvation Army Chief Reassigned

BH Commander Going To Niles

Capt. V. R. Doughty, commanding officer of the Twin Cities Salvation Army Corps, announced today that he has been reassigned to commander at Niles. He will lead the Army's activities in southern Berrien and Cass counties.

He came to Benton Harbor in February, 1967, from Minneapolis. Under his administration here, the "Red Shield Men's Lodge" was opened at 686 Territorial road to provide food and lodging for homeless men.

One of his first tasks at Niles will be relocation of the Citadel which will be taken over by an urban renewal project. His appointment is effective Sept. 1.

A successor to Capt. Doughty at the Benton Harbor Citadel is expected to be announced soon.

Deputies Investigate Fund Soliciting Hoax

"Anyone using the good name of the American Cancer Society undoubtedly has reached the lowest," Berrien county sheriff Deputy Robert L. Gilson said disdainfully in a report Monday.

Gilson said two men have been soliciting funds and were issuing receipts in the area of the Cliffview trailer park, US-33.

Mrs. Florine Isaac from the American Cancer Society reported the incident to the sheriff department and said the Cancer Society is not collecting at this time. Mrs. Isaac said a woman at the trailer park had inquired about the receipts.

One of the men is described as a white male, about 25, 5 foot, 7 inches tall and weighing about 175 pounds. He had black curly hair and was wearing black trousers, a black waist-length jacket and black shoes.

Deputy Gilson said he was with another man who drove their car.

BH Board Chief Page Is Pleased

Views School Improvements

Lester Page, president of the Benton Harbor school board, yesterday said that he was "extremely pleased" with improvements made during the summer at district schools.

Page, who along with four other school board members made a special four-hour tour of eight schools last night, said that he was particularly pleased with improvements at the high school.

"Although only $125,000 was spent on fixing the building up, they're done quite a job," Page said afterwards.

Improvements listed by Page on the high school included repairs made on the roof over the auditorium, stairwells redone, cafeteria sky-light removed, new fluorescent lights soon to be installed in the cafeteria and fluorescent lights and a acoustical tile installed throughout the second floor hall.

"The members of the board were quite pleasantly surprised at what was done. The school looks quite a bit brighter," Page said.

How Young St. Joseph Man Is Viewing Top Events At Democratic Convention

EDITOR'S NOTE: Arnold Fege, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Fege of 2710 Villa drive, St. Joseph, is currently covering the Democratic National Convention for the Chicago Sun-Times. Fege believes that the Vietnam plank of the Democratic platform will be the key issue in a test of strength between the forces of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Eugene McCarthy after talking to McCarthy supporters. Following is an article written especially for this newspaper.

By ARNOLD FEGE

The Democratic platform committee completed its closed-door session Monday evening by agreeing to an Administration Vietnam peace plank. This move by the committee virtually assured a floor fight when the platform will be voted on Tuesday evening by the full convention.

Earlier on Monday, the members rejected numerous minority proposals which demanded an immediate halt in the bombing of North Vietnam. The dove plank was pushed particularly by Rep. Philip Burton of California, Kenneth O'Donnell of Massachusetts, Gov. Philip H. Hoff of Vermont, Donald Kirkhoffer of Pennsylvania, Senator Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island, and Theodore Sorenson of New York.

In an exclusive interview with O'Donnell and Sorenson, aides both to President John F. Kennedy and the late Senator Robert F. Kennedy, each expressed disappointment with President Johnson's Vietnam policies and the Paris peace talks.

SORENSEN'S VIEW

"It is absurd to contend the U.S. is fighting international communism," Sorenson began, "when in reality the crisis that South and North Vietnam face is primarily civil war and nationalistic eruptions."

"The ease with which President Johnson has varied his war aims and objectives indicates that U.S. presence in Southeast Asia has followed a hesitant and meandering course. We must admit diplomatic mistakes and halt the killing and wastefulness of resources on both sides."

"There is no real justification for the U.S. and now that it is evident U.S. military tactics have failed, we should stop the bombing immediately."

O'Donnell continued by saying the peace negotiations are failing because the United States refuses to make any compromises, "and that's the ultimate purpose of negotiations anyway, to compromise. To get the negotiations off the ground, the U.S. should permit other nations to send diplomats to Paris to sit in on the conference in efforts to break the stalemate between Hanoi and Washington."

"What is required by U.S. leaders is a change in foreign philosophy, and a recognition that we are using obsolete strategy to combat a contemporary problem."

Neither man would comment on the rumor that President Johnson was angered by the committee's plan to write a compromise plank to satisfy both doves and hawks thereby attempting to avert a floor fight in front of a national television audience. Sorenson said, however, that he anticipated a bitter convention debate, which would especially test the strength of the Southern delegates who at this time appear to be Humphrey's major stronghold. "The issues are clearly drawn, and I am confident the doves will win."

MAJORITY PLANK

The majority plank reads that the bombing of North Vietnam should be discontinued only "when this action will not endanger the lives of our troops in the field." It appears that the majority plank was form-fitted especially for Humphrey as he has repeatedly insisted the United States should not risk the safety of American troops by canceling all bombing missions until there is a signal of restraint and reasonable response from the enemy.

McCarthy and McGovern both want an unconditional end to all the bombing of North Vietnam as an inducement for the communists to broaden the scope of the Paris peace negotiations. They also would encourage Saigon to negotiate "political reconciliation" with the National Liberation Front.

The majority plank recommended that the government of South Vietnam be "determined by free and safeguarded elections open to all political factions and groups."

In hard terms, Vietnam and its resolution is the issue that primarily separates Humphrey from McCarthy and McGovern as all three are considered to be liberals on domestic problems such as race, poverty, and civil rights.

LMC EYES $1.5 MILLION BUDGET IN 1968-69

Dean Of Technology
ResignsBoard Okays 1-Mill
Spread; Hire Firm
To Run BookstoreBy BRANDON BROWN
Staff Writer

Lake Michigan college trustees last night reviewed a $1.5 million 1968-69 budget forecast, approved a 1-mill spread on 1968 Berrien county tax rolls, accepted a dean's resignation, and hired a Chicago firm to operate the campus bookstore.

The $1,493,824 budget forecast—a deficit of $16,140 from lower tuition rates approved last month, but to be paid from the college cash reserve—is based on an enrollment of 1,650 full-time students equivalents.

Enrollment could go higher or lower, said President James Lehman. If lower, the budget will have to be cut. He should know enrollment by Sept. 17 or 18.

The forecast is $200,000 over the 1967-68 budget, with increases everywhere but for a $1,000 cut in capital outlay and $20,206 less for materials and supplies.

POSSIBLE DEFICIT

The budget, now in effect, could have its deficit wiped out by an enrollment higher than the expected 1,650 student equivalents (12 credit hours of enrollment equals one full-time student, and full and part-time enrollment is expected to total 2,400), since tuition and state aid would go up, President Lehman said.

Trustees last night "approved the accounting procedures as reflected" in the budget forecast.

The resignation of Dean of Technologies A. Martin Eldersveld, at LMC since July 1967, was accepted by trustees effective last Friday, the end of a pay period.

Eldersveld will become associate director of the Virginia department of community colleges at Richmond, "one he could not turn down," President Lehman said.

Dean of Arts and Sciences Harry J. Korschuh will fill Eldersveld's $16,000 a year post at no change in his own salary until a replacement can be found.

TAX HIKE

Trustees set a 1-mill tax rate on Berrien county's $574 million state equalized valuation for the 1968 tax year to meet the school's budget. The same millage as in previous years, it has not been spread by the board but probably will be allocated 2% to the 1968-69 budget and 2% to debt retirement.

Also approved was the selection of the Follett Corp. of Chicago as operator of the campus bookstore beside the college administration building, Benton Harbor, on a five-year lease starting Sept. 1. It pays LMC $1,000 annually plus a percentage of gross profits of the store.

The nationally-known firm will run a store that has had a high turnover of managers under LMC operation and has been a "nagging problem" for more than a year, President Lehman said.

Follett, operator of about 16 bookstores throughout the nation, will pay LMC a flat $1,000 annually plus 1 to 5 per cent of gross revenue on a sliding scale while the college retains a voice in store hours, personnel, staff and operation.

"This is a service to the college and not an attempt to compete with local merchants," added new Dean of Business Affairs Albert C. Johnson.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY: This picture, taken Aug. 27, 1918, shows Berrien county draftees on the steps of the old courthouse in St. Joseph just before embarking for basic training at Camp Custer during World War I. Several members of the House of David can be seen scattered near the rear. Although the cult is opposed to war, these members reportedly were inducted to perform non-military tasks. Afterwards the group boarded a Michigan Central train and began the journey to Camp Custer via Derby and Baroda. At Galien they were joined by another trainload of draftees from Chicago. Although only 2½ months of war remained, several of the men reportedly were sent to France before the Nov. 11 armistice. The picture was donated by Walter Eisenhart of 770 John Beers road in St. Joseph, who himself is pictured near the center.

Buchanan's Funds
For Renewal OK'dMajor Grant To Help City
Complete Project

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan city commission last night received a notice that the city's request of April 15 for a major completion grant has been approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The grant totals $78,139 and is to reduce the city's urban renewal debt by $67,879.35 and accrued interest by $10,259.65. This leaves a balance due on the urban renewal project debt of $85,892.55, principal, and $7,475.88, interest.

MEETS LAW

City Manager Robert Faulhaber was instructed to inform HUD that Buchanan has complied with the additional requirements of the Michigan Public Acts of 1968 regarding appointments to the citizens district council. This was handled when Buchanan started its urban renewal project several years ago with the establishment of a steering committee, neighborhood committees, a minority committee and others required.

A public hearing on a special assessment roll for a sanitary sewer on Victory street, between Arctic and Elizabeth street, was set for 7:30 p.m. Sept. 23. The engineer's estimated cost of the project is $10.55 per front foot at a total cost of $3,180.

The commission authorized payment of $19,011.60 to L.W. Lamb Construction Co. for work completed on the northeast area sanitary sewer project. Also authorized was the payment of $2,170.67 to R.W. Petrie & Associates, Benton Harbor, for engineering service on the same project.

The appointment of David D. Hunter, manager, of the Clark International Credit Corp., to the city planning commission by Mayor Kenneth Witt, was confirmed by the commission. Hunter who was appointed for a three year term, replaces Robert Case, who resigned.

CITY INVESTMENTS

The commission authorized City Clerk Raymond Suabedissen to invest $50,000 from surplus funds in 30-day bank certificates. The petition, presented by a committee, from Faith United Methodist church for the city to open and develop the section of North Detroit street, between Fourth street and Remus drive, was tabled until the next meeting Sept. 9.

The commission agreed to cooperate with the Chamber of Commerce in its Buck Fever Days, a promotional program, Oct. 16-18, by permitting use of a city parking lot on Days avenue and use of small portions of Days avenue and Main street.

The commission authorized payment of bills totaling $11,762.79.

Tickets at $10 per single and $15 a couple are available now throughout Berrien county for the Saturday banquet honoring Kenneth J. Clark, the Berrien Springs resident who assisted the Berrien Apportionment commission in its remap of the county for supervisor districts.

St. Joseph Atty. Tat Parish, program chairman, said tickets are available from all Democratic candidates in Berrien, chairmen of various township and city Democratic organizations and other active Democrats.

A roast turkey banquet Saturday at 7 p. m. in the Statler-Hilton Inn south of Benton Harbor will honor Clark, a Berrien Springs surveyor who volunteered information used by the apportionment commission to remap Berrien from 49 down to 21 county supervisor districts.

HE'S 101

Baroda Man
Celebrating Birthday

Patrick G. Kenney of Baroda is 101 today.

He was born in Rochester, N.Y., August 27, 1867, but lived in this area most of his life. He was a mortician in Baroda, started a lumber company, also in Baroda, and after he "retired" sold fruit packages for Anderson Basket factory of Stevensville until he was 95.

He is still active and especially enjoys reading. A life-long Democrat, he held various Baroda political offices for a total of 51 years — justice of the peace, treasurer and supervisor. He is proud of his record of never missing an opportunity to vote.

He married Miss Mary Enders of Coloma on March 26, 1887. She and three of their children are deceased.

His living son and four daughters include R. J. Kenney of Galien, Mrs. William Carroll, Galien; Mrs. E. F. Nitz, Baroda; Mrs. Harry Bird, Baroda; and Mrs. Leo Nutting, Kalamazoo.

Financing
Of Schools
Is StudiedDowagiac Board
Eyes Alternatives

DOWAGIAC — How to finance public schools without a steady string of millage elections drew the attention of the Dowagiac board of education last night.

The board, in a special session, adopted a resolution seeking action by the state legislature in studying alternate ways of financing school districts without extra voted millage elections.

The resolution is to be presented formally during a meeting of the Michigan School Board association in November. The board, in another resolution, dealt with what it termed ethics on contracts offered to teachers of one district by boards or superintendents of another district.

The board noted that non-tenure teachers are free agents until they sign contracts, which is after negotiations are ended and which may be near the start of school year. However, the board noted that by April 1, it must notify all teachers of its intention to retain them the next year.

LANDSCAPERS HIRED

Also, the board voted to hire Grable and Mills, landscape architects of Lansing, to make a facility analysis of the athletic field and playground at a fee, based on time, not to exceed $750.

The board has experienced two problems with the athletic field and playgrounds for more than a year: An injury hazard to athletes caused by a track curbing which encircles the football field, and the need for facilities because the area serves Union high, central junior high, and Patrick Hamilton elementary school.

Last month, the board voted to remove some of the curbing. This has been done, it was reported. A study of the track as the curbing was removed brought to light that it has extensive flaws and pits and actually runs up and down hill.

PRESSURE ON FACILITIES
The increased use of the grounds is caused by the larger enrollment of the junior high, by the reorganization of six adjoining districts last February and the addition of seven classrooms to Patrick Hamilton, now under construction.

A bid of 18.8 cents per gallon for gasoline for buses was awarded to Pyramid Oil Co., Dowagiac. It was not the low bid, but was four-tenths of a cent higher than Chaker Oil Co. The decision was made to continue service with Pyramid, because of excellent service the past year and the slight price difference.

In other business, the board will be host to teachers at the annual dinner Sept. 3 during teacher orientation days Aug. 30 and Sept. 2.

Bangor Firm Sold
To Texas CompanyAdams Electronics Becomes Tracor Subsidiary

BANGOR — Adams Electronics, Inc., manufacturer of wire wound coils founded here in 1959, has been acquired by Tracor, Inc., of Austin, Tex., it was reported yesterday.

The transaction marks the fourth acquisition this year by the Texas firm, which produces an array of scientific research instruments.

R.N. Lane, Tracor president, said the Adams transaction involved the delivery of 66,000 shares of Tracor stock, divided equally between preferred and common. Also to be included is an additional amount of Tracor stock, to be determined by future conditions, including the future earnings of Adams Electronics, in exchange for all the assets and business of the Adams firm.

Lane said Adams will operate as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Tracor, Inc., with no changes in management or personnel.

Adams Electronics, founded here in 1959 by Stanley A. Adams, currently employs 670 persons in plants at Bangor and Reed City. Sales for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1968, were about $4½ million.

Adams is a component manufacturer of wire wound coils for the communications, television, radio and automotive industries. Distribution currently is limited to manufacturers or original equipment.

Lane reported that in the future, many of the products will be distributed to a more diverse market through Liffel, Inc., of Des Moines, Ill., and other Tracor subsidiaries.

OTHER ACQUISITIONS

Tracor in May acquired Liffel, a manufacturer of fuses and other electronic devices. Tracor in July acquired Marine Accoustical Services, Inc., Miami, Fla., makers of ocean engine rings, research and vessel operation and cable laying equipment. In June, Tracor Laboratories, Berkeley, Calif., manufacturer of computer systems, medical laboratories and hospital equipment.

Tracor, Inc., of Austin, is a scientific research instrument manufacturer operating in ten states and the District of Columbia. Stanley Adams continues to serve the firm he founded as president, treasurer, general manager and director. Other directors are, Edward Kowieski, vice president, sales; and John H. Verdonk, general counsel and personnel director.

Sunday Liquor Sales
Stickers Going Fast

More than 600 special stickers have been issued to date permitting "watering holes" throughout the state to serve liquor by the glass on Sunday.

Roger Rosendale, director of licensing for the Michigan Liquor Control Commission in Lansing, said his department has been "too busy issuing them" to tell specifically where the Sunday permits are going, but most went to southwestern Michigan taverns where two-thirds of the state's bars are.

About 100 applicants have been denied because they were unable to show more than 50 per cent of their income has come from the sale of food and other goods and services, he said.

Recent state law permits counties to allow liquor by the glass on Sundays. Berrien's board of supervisors okayed it on Aug. 19. Obtaining the special permit, Rosendale said, can be a one-day project if the operator takes his application to Lansing. The extra sticker costs 15 per cent of the drinking spot's current license, or $75 on the common $500 basic bar license.

The new drinking law can permit Sunday liquor in bowling alleys, in country clubs, lodges and yacht clubs if their gross receipts for food, goods and services exceed 50 per cent of total receipts. Rosendale said the liquor commission would rule on "borderline cases."

Bangor Adopts Vacation Policy

Sidewalk Near High School Under Discussion

BANGOR—City employees with 20 years service will receive four weeks of paid vacation under a section of labor policy adopted last night by the Bangor city council.

The policy also states that employees can accumulate two years of vacation only with the permission of the city council. The city employee vacation schedule previously had provided only for up to three weeks vacation per year. The changes were recommended by the council's labor policy committee.

Mayor Paul Twyman Sr., reported William S. Lawrence of Chicago had met with Duane Goss, city planning commission chairman, last week to discuss drawing up of the comprehensive plan for development of Bangor. Lawrence, who heads a consulting firm, will work with the commission in drawing the plan for future development.

City Treasurer Fred Ryder reported that 84 per cent of the city's summer tax spread of $39,652.48 or $84,164.91 has been collected to date.

SIDEWALK DISCUSSED

Construction of a sidewalk to serve the new high school was discussed at length but no action taken after council members said funds were not included in the current year's budget. Councilman Joseph Diefendorf said a sidewalk should be put in before some student is struck and killed by a car but other members said funds are not available. The city has received a bid of $2,880 to install about 1,600 feet of walk along Arlington road from the old to the new high school.

Clerk John McElduff was authorized to check if contractor Pat Gallagher of Lake Odessa is covered by insurance. If he has insurance, the clerk will give him a contract to remove tree stumps from tree lawns at his bid of $7 per stump.

Mayor Twyman was named to represent Bangor at the Michigan Municipal League convention Sept. 17-19 at Lansing. The request of Wilcox-Eastman American Legion post 160 to apply to the Michigan Liquor Control commission for a private club license was approved by the council.

Approved for payment were $13,832 to Layne-Northern Co., Mishawaka, Ind., for the new city water well which was put in use Aug. 16; $10 for membership in the Michigan Good Roads Federation, $7,966.77 for general fund bills and $2,078.61 in highway fund bills.

Applications For Housing Being Taken

So. Haven Project Near Completion

SOUTH HAVEN — Final applications for occupancy in the city's first low-rent housing units will be received at city hall on Saturday, Sept. 7, housing director Tom Daley announced during a meeting of the housing commission last night.

Daley said many applications have already been formally made through City Manager Fred Timmer's office and that these persons need not apply again. He said the commission will meet shortly after the deadline in special session to review the applications. The first 11 units will be completed and open for public inspection within the next month, Daley said. Robert Paulette, a LaPorte, Ind. developer, is erecting 50 homes on the city's south side at a cost of $853,000.

The commission last night voted to accept a bid from the Bank of America, Inc. in New York, for a temporary $832,000 loan at an interest rate of 2.85 percent. Daley explained that the loan would finance the project through the construction stage and until the homes are 95 percent occupied. After this, bonds would be sold with plans to pay them off in 40 years with rent money received.

Members also accepted a lone bid from Michigan Gas Utilities Co. for 50 gas ranges at a cost of $87.70 each.

Road Plan Gets Hearing

EAU CLAIRE — No objections were voiced last night during a public hearing before the Pipestone township board for 14 property owners who seek improvements of Macedonia road, off Pipestone road, north-west of here.

Because the owners of the property, in what is called Macedonia community, seek a supervisor plot for assessment payments, a second hearing is to be held in September, under law.

The supervisors plot means that all property owners would be assessed for improvement costs as a unit, although each would pay according to his road frontage. Payments would be in the budget hearing was set for 8 p.m. the same evening following the faculty-board dinner.

SAGINAW AGREEMENT — SAGINAW (AP)—A tentative wage agreement was hammered out Monday in a 10½-hour bargaining session between officials of the City of Saginaw and the Saginaw Firefighters Association.

HOME FROM CALIFORNIA — GLENN — Randi Hagger, daughter of Joseph Hagger of Pullman has returned home from Fountain Valley, Calif., where she visited her uncle, Kenneth Daleiden.
